

Tori Olson has been an Elementary Art Teacher for the last 10 years. She teaches mindfulness to her students and she also incorporates this into her personal paintings. Art is her passion and she enjoys inspiring young minds to create. She teaches her students how to use recycled materials to make beautiful pieces and she has made many large recycled collaborative pieces with her students ages Preschool-5th Grade. These art pieces are currently displayed at the front of the Heber Valley Elementary School for all to enjoy. Tori recently moved to Folsom and she loves taking advantage of the abundant beauty provided in the area by walking and mountain biking on the trails. Evidence of her love for the outdoors can be found in her artwork. In the past, she has been in several exclusive art shows and exhibits in Park City, Utah and she has sold many of her paintings in both Park City and Midway, Utah.
